OBJECTIVE

Your objective is to defend yourself against the incoming Vector fleet as long as possible to buy your home planet enough time to fully activate its automatic defense systems. Shoot the Vector spaceships and avoid direct contact with them. The Vector fleet approaches from hyperspace in ever increasing waves of aircraft.

THE JAGUAR

Your aircraft is called "The Jaguar". It is a medium sized fighter aircraft and is very agile compared to most other ships. It can also be easily upgraded even while being on duty.

The Jaguar's hull absorbs three direct hits before the hull integrity collapses. Every hit to the Jaguar also downgrades its weapon systems if it has been upgraded yet.

Fighting the enemy forces without getting hit yourself will win you weapon upgrades. There are five upgrade levels to your weapon system.

The Vectors

The Vectors are fierce enemies. They have several different spacecrafts with varying characteristics at their disposal. The Vector ships have no guns themselves so they always go in collision course.

BOUNCER

The Bouncer is the most common of the Vector fighters but also the most harmless. It can only bounce off the battle arena's walls.
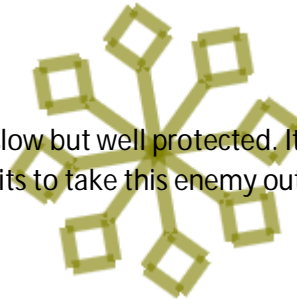

WANDERER

The Wanderer is with a medium speed pulse drive and is constantly heading towards you.

BLOB

The Blob is slow but well protected. It takes a number of hits to take this enemy out.

SPEEDER

The Speeder is just the opposite of the Blob. It is very fast but a single hit will be enough to overcome this Vector.

More Vectors

INFECTED VECTORS

Nobody knows where these virus-infected Vectors come from but they are even deadlier than their normal counterparts. If they get killed they will burst into a handful of Floodlings that will quickly try to infect you.

EPIDEMIC VECTORS

The Epidemics are biologically enhanced Vectors that will reproduce themselves during battle to strengthen the fleet.

Only the Bouncer and the Speeder are known to exist in this form.

FLOODLING

The Floodling is a symbiotic meta lifeform that infected a lot of vectors. It will go for you, too, if it gets the chance.

Helpful Hints

- Do not stay in one place for too long. A handful of enemies will always try jump out of hyperspace just where you are.
- Always get the Speeders and Floodlings first since they can hardly be dodged.

- Although the Epidemic Vectors seem not be a great threat, do not let them reproduce themselves too often. You will soon get overrun by an uncontrolled horde of Vectors.
- Try to stay alive as long as possible to earn weapon upgrades. You need them in later waves.
